Registration For YWCA Free Financial Conference For Women Opens August 16

HARTFORD, CT—YWCA Hartford Region and honorary chair Connecticut State Treasurer Denise L. Nappier will host the 9th annual Money Conference for Women, a free event to help women take charge of their financial futures and put them in the driver's seat on the road to financial success. Online registration begins August 16th at www.ctmoneyconferenceforwomen.com. The event will take place Saturday, October 23, 2010 from 7:30 a.m. – 2:00 p.m. at the Connecticut Convention Center in Hartford, Connecticut, and will feature Keynote Speaker Michelle Singletary, author and nationally syndicated columnist.

The Money Conference for Women is designed to address the financial challenges women face in their work and personal lives. Statistically, women earn less than men working in the same position and continue to work in jobs that pay less. The discrepancy between income levels for women of color is even larger. These disparities increase a woman's likelihood to suffer financial insecurity and live in poverty during her later years.

The conference features workshops given by financial experts including budgeting, investing, retirement planning, and home ownership. In addition, there will be a financial expo including a variety of financial service providers. All registered attendees at the conference will receive a complimentary copy of Singletary's new book The Power to Prosper: 21 Days to Financial Freedom. To register by mail, or to get more information about the event call 860) 525-1163.
